

Twin Sisters Share Bloody Nose

Jenni Montoya

Farmington, Minnesota

My four-year-old twin daughter, Lexie, fell off her scooter yesterday and bumped her face on the sidewalk. Her left nostril was bleeding. As she and I sat on the front step while I held a tissue to her nose, my other twin, Bella, stepped in front of us and said, "Mom, I have a bloody nose!" I looked up, and her left nostril was bleeding, too! I'm still in awe.
